

Nigerian Princes Now Accept Bitcoin

Retrieved Tuesday 8th of August 2017 08:25:58 PM

Bitcoin climbed 6% overnight ... touching almost $ 3,500 per piece ...

In the media, the news embellishes the promise of crypto currency from day to day ...

This week the news reports that investment funds will start coming in soon ...
Cameron and Tyler Winklevoss got a $ 65 million payment for their role in creating Facebook in 2004 ...

Since then, twins have invested in the field of cryptos ...

We have just learned that the Winklevoss box will launch futures contracts on crypto-currencies in partnership with CBOE, the futures exchange market in Chicago.

With these contracts, you can buy "insurance" on your position in crypto-currencies ...

If you were an investment fund, you could protect a sizeable investment in cryptos ...

As a result, many people believe that the funds will start putting billions in the cryptos thanks to the futures market ...

We could see the size of the market of cryptos - from $ 121 billion today - increase tenfold in the coming months ...

Philippe Herlin: bitcoin is the "cheapest transfer system in the world."

As a reminder, Dr. Philippe Herlin published his book "The Revolution of Bitcoin and Complementary Currencies," in May 2013 ... at the time when the bitcoin changed hands to less than $ 100 per piece ...

We are still putting the keys on a presentation to send you on the bitcoin (coming in the week) ...

On the other hand, let me give you an excerpt of this interview right away ...

This is what Dr. Herlin told me about the future of bitcoin (which Dr. Herlin continues to expect on the rise):

"... when you look at the bitcoin, over a long time, there is a progression because the bitcoin meets real needs ...

"... the bitcoin, today, is a currency where you can make transfers all over the world. And it's the cheapest wire transfer system in the world ...

"... bitcoin is a currency that does not depend on a central bank, and not a state ... there is no money board ... no interest rate manipulation ...

"We have many countries in the world where the currency is collapsing ... because there is an economic crisis or because the currency of the country depends on oil or something like ... Venezuela or Nigeria ...

"More and more people in Nigeria are turning to the bitcoin ... must know that 100,000 traders in Nigeria accept the bitcoin ... the bitcoin serves as an alternative ... in countries where the currency makes yo-yo ..."

In short, you see that Dr. Herlin continues to believe in the potential cryptos ... We will share more about his opinion on the bitcoin in the days to come.

What to do...?

Nothing new on the stock market ...

On the CAC40, stocks continue to fall from week to week ... We have lost a little more than 4% since early May according to the
